The Bohemian Dinner.

The ride down town.
The Washington Square district.
The "bohemian" restaurant.
The descending steps.
The narrow hall-way.
The semi darkness.
The checking the hat.
The head waiter.
The effusive greeting.
The corner table.
The candle light.
The brick walls.
The "artistic atmosphere".
The man who plays the piano.
The wailing sounds.
The boy fiddler.
The doleful discords.
The other diners.
The curious types.
The long hair.
The low collar.
The flowing tie.
The loose clothes.
The appearance of food.
The groan.
The messy waiter.
The thumb in the soup.
The grated cheese.
The twisted bread.
The veal pâté.
The minced macaroni.
The cayenne pepper.
The coughing fit.
The ~~chemical~~ wine.
The garlic salad.
The rum omelette.
The black coffee.
The bénédicte.
The Russian cigarette.
The "boatman's song".
The mock applause.
The 'tempermental' selection.
The drowsy feeling.
The snooze.
The sudden awakening.
The appearance of the check.
The dropped jaw.
The emptied pockets.
The last penny.
The bolt for the door.
The hat.
The street.
The lack of car fare.
The long walk up town.
The limping home.
The Bed.

The foregoing comments and recommendations are intended as suggestions for strengthening controls and to assist in future tax planning. I would welcome the opportunity to discuss any of these suggestions at your convenience. If I can be of any assistance, please do not hesitate to call.

You may want to have Maribeth give you a periodic financial report on each of the children. This might especially be helpful for comparing where each of the children stand financially, as you continue to update your estate planning or as you decide on making tax-free gifts annually.
